She came by automobile in company of another sister, Mrs. Julia Smith.

Smith Mapping Campaign Plans

Silent on How Many Speeches He Will Make or Whether He Will Spend Any Time at Executive Offices—Can't Understand Why Yeakum Supports Hoover.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 4 (AP).—With little more than a month remaining before election day, Governor Smith is proceeding with the mapping out of his future campaign plans along lines which he believes are most effective in the light of experience gained from his first two weeks' invasion of the west.

While keeping silent on the number of speeches he expects to deliver on his second swing beginning next week, and where they will take him, the Democratic Presidential nominee is expected to chart his course around the eastern half of the country, probably taking a dip into the "Solid South" before touching several border states, and then complete the circle with speeches in more northern states.

How long this trip will take and what subjects the nominee will discuss are not known definitely, but it is certain that he will reserve the final week of the campaign for a whirlwind finish in the Atlantic seaboard states. His speeches there will be in more rapid order and probably will be confined to the strip between Boston and Baltimore, as well as those cities with New York getting the final address on the Saturday night before election.

Definite announcement of the schedule for the next stumping tour will be made by the governor in a few days. Meanwhile he intends to get as much rest as possible and to limber up on the golf links. He is making no political engagements, nor has he announced whether he will put in a few hours at his desk at the capitol offices before taking to the road again.

The daily conference with newspapermen was the only order of business today. Yesterday's held at the executive mansion, developed mostly what the governor calls "off the record" material or that which is not supposed to be used for publication because of its confidential nature.

Criticizes Yeakum For Supporting Hoover.

The nominee did allow himself to be quoted in connection with a newspaper story to the effect that B. F. Yeakum, a former railroad president and student of the farm question, had come out for Herbert Hoover's "farm relief plan."

He said he could not understand how Yeakum found basis for the claim that Mr. Hoover "has any plan." He contended that the Republican Presidential candidate had held the tariff to be the foundation of farm relief in his acceptance speech, while "every student of the subject and every farm leader take a directly opposite view."

"The whole contention all along has been that the tariff does not operate where the farmer produces more than is consumed," the Democratic nominee declared. "That is the basis of the whole thing. No matter how high we might drive the tariff on wheat, if we have an exportable surplus and we are compelled to sell the whole crop at the price of the surplus, the tariff cannot operate."

Asked if he had noticed that Mr. Hoover had expanded his speaking campaign for the rest of the campaign, the governor said:

"I saw the headline. I did not read it. Just what is it?"

"He said four weeks ago that he was only going to deliver not to exceed three or four speeches throughout the entire campaign," his questioner informed him. "Then it got up to six before he got through with it."

"That is not such a large expansion," the governor replied.

UPSHAW DENIED RIGHT TO SPEAK AGAINST SMITH.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 4 (AP).—William D. Upshaw, former Georgia Congressman now on a speaking tour in Mississippi in opposition to the candidacy of Governor Smith, has been denied the right to speak in Goodman, Batesville and Starkville.

Residents of the town of Batesville yesterday passed a resolution asking the former Congressman to "speak elsewhere." W. R. Ellis, political leader of Holmes county, told the Memphis Commercial-Appeal that the Georgian would not be heard in Goodman, while Sheriff Bridges declared that use of the court house at Starkville would not be available to Upshaw.

"The Anti-Smith organization is paying expenses and I am not receiving Republican money," Upshaw declared in a telephone conversation to the Commercial-Appeal.

REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE CAMPAIGN FILES RIFLED.

Washington, Oct. 4 (AP).—The Evening Star said today it had learned that valuable campaign documents and other confidential data were mysteriously missing from secret files of the Republican national committee here. Personal files of Harry J. Brown, assistant director of publicity for the Republican campaign, had been rifled on two occasions, the account said.

Police Seize Nash Car.

A Nash sedan bearing the license plates Y59979, was found parked all day on Hurley avenue on Wednesday, and was towed to the police garage where the police are holding it for the owner.

Hoover's Chief Concern Is the Eastern Sector

Convinced Real Fight Is Along The Eastern Atlantic Seaboard—Leaders Believe That After His Address There Will Be a Rising Tide of Support.

Washington, Oct. 4 (AP).—His attention centered now upon the present exigencies of the campaign, Herbert Hoover is leaving to the future his precise program for the closing days of the presidential contest.

His chief concern for the time being is the eastern sector of the country from which he receives varying reports as to the outlook. Some of these are of a very pessimistic nature while others are less gloomy.

Assessing the whole, the Republican Presidential nominee is convinced that the real fight is along the eastern Atlantic seaboard, from Jersey's shores to the point where begins the rock-ribbed coast of Maine, and his efforts are directed toward strengthening the party ramparts there.

Leaders in that section believe his personal visits to New York city and New England will be of great benefit and that after his personal conferences with the workers and his two addresses, one in New York and the other in Boston, there will be a rising tide of support for the national ticket.

Such party war horses as Moses of New Hampshire, and Reed of Pennsylvania, have frankly told the candidate that persistent work must be done in the east if the party is to hold ground which in national elections it usually has been reasonably certain of long before election day.

Southern Situation Gets Attention.

The situation in the south also is one to which Hoover is directing some of his energies and his personal bid for support in that section will be made Saturday in his visits to Elizabethton and Johnson City, Tenn., in both of which towns he will make addresses.

While this is largely Republican territory, it is well into the south, and Hoover's messages will be directed in part at least to all the country south of the Mason and Dixon line.

While the candidate himself is directing much of his energies to the territory lying to north and south of his personal headquarters here, the west is by no means being neglected with the campaign there being pressed vigorously by Senator Curtis, vice presidential candidate, and by Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, who is covering much of the territory traversed by the Democratic Presidential candidate.

Strenuous Trip To Tennessee.

On his trip to Elizabethton, upon which he sets out tomorrow night, Hoover will be accompanied by Mrs. Hoover, his son, Herbert, Jr., and George Akerson, his personal assistant. With only a day set aside for the visit to Tennessee, the nominee faces a schedule only a little less strenuous than he had on his recent trip to New Jersey.

There will be a brief rear platform talk at Bristol, Va., the first stopping place. The candidate will be presented by C. Bascom Slemmons, national committeeman for Virginia, who will join the party there. Leaving Bristol at 11 a. m., the special train will proceed to Childers, where the party will transfer to automobiles for a trip through the principal streets of Elizabethton to headquarters at a hotel, where a luncheon will be served.

Early in the afternoon, Hoover will proceed to the fair grounds to speak at 3 p. m. Later the Hoover party will proceed to Johnson City, and after a second address at the soldiers' home, Hoover will motor into Johnson City to be the guest of the Chamber of Commerce at a dinner. He will depart at 7:15 p. m., and arrive in Washington Sunday morning.

COOLIDGE CELEBRATE 23RD WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Washington, Oct. 4 (AP).—President and Mrs. Coolidge celebrated today their twenty-third wedding anniversary—their last one in the White House.

Both had carefully avoided special preparations for the occasion, telling friends that they wished to observe this anniversary in the same manner as they had observed all previous ones since their first. They wished it to be a quiet family occasion free from all show or artificiality.

Mrs. Coolidge left the bedside of her mother in Northampton, Mass., Tuesday to continue her practice of twenty-three years standing of being in her own home every fourth of October. The absence of their son John was the only change which Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were forced to submit to in their yearly observance of the date.

HASSELL AND CRAMER SAIL FOR UNITED STATES

Copenhagen, Oct. 4 (AP).—Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, American fliers who started from Rockford, Ill., August 16 for Sweden and who were rescued in Greenland, sailed for the United States today as guests of the Scandinavian American Line. Before leaving they reiterated that they desired to make another attempt to fly the Atlantic next year.

Orders Probe of Massena Incident

Troopers Ordered To Report and Explain Their Side of the Case—Consider Mayor's Letter Too Vague To Constitute An Apology.

Albany, Oct. 4 (AP).—At the order of Governor Smith, a thorough investigation of what has become known as the "Massena incident" involving the questioning of a Jewish Rabbi there on a rumor of ritual murder, was in full swing today.

Lieutenant Edward F. Helm and Corporal McCann of Troop B, state police, were ordered to report immediately to Major John A. Warner, superintendent of troopers and secretary of the governor, to explain their side of the case growing out of the questioning of Rabbi Burlinglass.

That the troopers had been ordered to the headquarters in Albany became known after Governor Smith made public a letter to Dr. Stephen S. Wise, president of the American Jewish Congress, lamenting the "questioning" of the rumor of ritual murder which developed on Jewish Atonement Day in the St. Lawrence county village. These two developments came after the official report on the incident, as addressed to the commanding officer of Troop B stationed at Malone, was made public.

The incident came to light with the protest by Louis Marshall, president of the American Jewish committee, over the questioning of the Rabbi, which Mr. Marshall termed an "unspeakable calumny" against the Jewish race.

Mr. Marshall's protest, in a published letter to Mayor W. Gilbert Hawes of Massena, demanded public apology of that official. The letter declared that on Saturday, September 22, two days before Yom Kippur, the mayor "arranged" for troopers to interrogate Rabbi Burlinglass "on the intolerable assumption that the Jews required the blood of Christian children on their holy days" and that this requirement had had some connection with the disappearance of four year old Barbara Griffith from her Massena home. She was found the following day in a nearby woods where she had strayed.

Worked on Kidnapping Theory.

The officials report to the trooper's commanding officer at Malone stated that "after all other efforts to find the child failed, the investigators began to work on the theory that possibly some person or persons had kidnapped the child and destroyed her."

"In starting on this theory, the first person to be investigated was the Jewish boy, Jacob Shauknin," the report continued. "This boy had previously appeared voluntarily at police office at Massena and talked about the girl in a rambling manner."

The troopers considered the boy of "low mentality" and thought he might have been influenced by tales of a rumored custom in olden days "for the members of the Jewish faith to offer a blood sacrifice."

A member of the Jewish faith in Massena was questioned on the subject, but, the report said, "the apparently knew nothing about it and suggested that the rabbi be interviewed. Trooper McCann then interviewed the rabbi with reference to obtaining 'any information that might lead to finding if anything like this (the rumored ritual) had happened with reference to this boy'."

Congregation Protested to Leaders.

The rabbi reported the matter to his congregation who in turn protested to their leaders in New York. J. Shalkin, president of the rabbi's congregation, in his letter of protest, said Rabbi Burlinglass was summoned to police headquarters outside of which a "mob had gathered" and was there questioned by the troopers. "Now, the rumor is broadcast," the letter continued, "that after questioning the rabbi the guilty became frightened and gave up the child."

In his letter to Dr. Wise, the governor declared:

"As governor of the state I cannot believe that this libelous myth has been resurrected and credited even for a moment by any one connected with the service of the state, or any of its civil divisions. I can hardly believe that either the mayor of Massena or a State Trooper summoned a rabbi to police station on a religious holiday in connection with an absurd rumor charge to account for the disappearance of a child, which I learned was found again within a few hours of its disappearance."

He then said a thorough investigation would be conducted.

Incident "Magnified," Says Mayor Hawes.

Mayor Hawes in a letter made public last night by Dr. Wise, declared "the incident has been enlarged and magnified."

"I feel sure you do not fully understand the facts. It is not a matter being discussed in Massena and it gains publicity it will only be through the Jewish people of Massena."

"I regret exceedingly that this misunderstanding has arisen and I hope the exceedingly pleasant relations which have prevailed here with the Jewish people may continue without interruption. If I am chargeable with any act or word in this matter, which has been offensive to the Jewish people, I certainly regret it."

Dr. Wise indicated that the mayor's letter was considered by the American Jewish Congress, to which the matter was referred, as being "too vague to constitute an apology."

SURROUNDED BY FOOD.

NEARLY STARVES TO DEATH.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 4 (AP).—Edward Connelly, 38, a chef, was surrounded by food for seven days and yet, he said today, he nearly starved to death.

Connelly found himself locked in a boxcar which was shunted to a lone some siding. The car was loaded with boxes of canned food, packed high all around him.

When his pounding on the door finally brought rescue yesterday, Connelly explained that he had feared to break into the food because it might be thought he was stealing. When hunger finally drove him to consider getting into the food, he had lost his knife and could not open the boxes.

SEIZE THREE STILL IN ABANDONED STEEL PLANT

Philadelphia, Oct. 4 (AP).—Samuel O. Wynne, prohibition administrator for eastern Pennsylvania, today announced the seizure of distilling apparatus valued at several hundred thousand dollars in an abandoned steel plant near Easton.

When the agents descended on the plant late last night they found three large stills with a total capacity of 2,000 gallons in operation. Three men, found in the plant, were arrested.

By far the most interesting find, Wynne declared, was the discovery of a paper bearing the automobile license numbers and the names of every agent under his direction. Beside the name of a former agent was the notification "O. K. out."

WILL ASK HOOVER HIS VIEWS ON WATERPOWER.

Sheffield, Ala., Oct. 4 (AP).—Herbert Hoover will be asked to express himself in his address at Elizabethton, Tenn., on the waterpower question in general and Muscle Shoals in particular, by a committee representing the mayor and board of aldermen of Muscle Shoals City.

The committee will ask Hoover if he will strive for or oppose government ownership and operation of all the nation's waterpower projects, his attitude on Muscle Shoals project, and other waterpower developments in Tennessee, Mississippi, Colorado and other rivers. This final question will seek the nominee's views on the so-called power lobby in Washington.

PETTY THIEVES STEAL CITY DEPARTMENT LANTERNS

Tuesday evening a petty thief stole three lanterns placed by the board of public works on the high road where street construction work is under way, and Wednesday night three lanterns were stolen from the barricade on North Manor avenue. The theft of the lanterns is not only petty thievery but affords a danger to traffic as the excavations are left unprotected by lights.

Injured in Train Crash.

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 4 (AP).—A number of persons were injured today when a Canadian Pacific Railway freight train derailed the track at Aldershot and sideswiped a Canadian National Railway passenger train, bound for Toronto. Calls were sent for ambulances and doctors. Four persons were brought to St. Joseph's Hospital here. The accident occurred about a mile east of Aldershot in a heavy fog.

Mystic Court Food Sale.

Mystic Court, No. 62, Order of the Amaranth, will hold a food sale at the Rose and German store Saturday afternoon. Homemade cakes, bread, etc., will be for sale.

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 4 (AP).—All the Yankee fans in the city gathered today at the stadium to watch the first game of the World Series.

At the first ball game of the series, the Yankees, who had the home advantage, won the first game, 4 to 1, in the first inning.

Long before noon the vast expanse of bleachers was two-thirds filled. So was the upper tier of the triple-deck grand stand, the gates to which had been opened at 10 o'clock to admit fans and steadily mounting lines of the faithful. Only the left field bleachers showed any vacant space in the unreserved sections, with the same time, 1:30, nearly four hours off.

This assured some 40,000 customers in the $1 and $2 seats as many more, in possession of reserved seat tickets, which were sold out days ago, would show the total throng up to around 50,000 some 17,000 in excess of the previous high mark for a World Series game.

At least one of the Yankees supposed to be only a jump short of a wheel chair, walked in briskly enough to belie pessimistic reports. It was none other than Babe Ruth, one of the first to arrive in the clubhouse, jaunty and good natured in blue suit and brown cap.

"How is it, Babe?" a blue coat greeted him.

"Fine, kid, never better," responded the Babe.

Yankees First On Field.

The Yankees, world's champions now, at any rate, and ready with a rebuttal for any evidence to the contrary, were first on the field for practice. They came trotting out shortly before noon.

"Where are the crutches?" someone yelled from the lower stand. It was a mild, hazy day, ideal for the game.

For batting drill, "Rosie Bill" Ryan, who twirled against the Yankees while wearing a Giant uniform in the world series, pitched to the champions. Ruth leaned his big black bat viciously on a few curves and the first big cheer went up when he skied one into the right field bleachers. This is a customary preliminary rite for any series that Babe performs in and this is his ninth appearance.

Waite Hoyt, the Yankee ace who is one of the few players writing his own newspaper stuff, took his turn in the batting drill. His pitcher's post had been assured beforehand, anyway, with Willie Sherdel nominated to toss from the porridge for the Cardinals.

The red birds came out at 12:10 to warm up. Whether it was a new one or not, old Pete Alexander's cap fit him no better than usual. Jim Bottomley, who prefers his caps on one ear, shared the camera's eye with old Alex.

The Lineup.

The batting order and the umpire for the first world series game follows:

St. Louis—Douthitt, cf; High, 3b; Frisch, 2b; Bottomley, 1b; Hafey, lf; Harper, rf; Wilson, c; Maranville, ss; Sherdel, p.
New York—Pascual, cf; Koenig, ss; Ruth, rf; Gehrig, 1b; Meusel, lf; Lattin, 2b; Dugan, 3b; Bengough, c; Hoyt, p.
Umpires—Clarence B. Owens (A.L.) at the plate; Charles Rigler (N.L.) first base; William A. McGowan (A.L.) second base; Charles H. Parnham (N.L.) third base.

First Inning

Cardinals:

Hoyt warmed up leisurely in the box.

Douthitt up. Umpire Owens lusted that every photographer be off the field before he permitted Hoyt to pitch the first ball. Douthitt polished his bat with some dirt and stepped to the plate. Ball one, inside. Strike one, called. This was a fast one on the inside. Foul, strike two. Ball two, high inside. Douthitt went out, Lazzari to Gehrig.

High up. The Yankee outfield came in close. Foul, strike one. High sent up a high fly to Pascual.

Frisch up. The crowd applauded the New York boy. Ball one, high outside. Strike one, called. This was a drop curve over the plate. Ball two, high. Ball three, outside. Strike two, called. Koenig threw out Frisch at first.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Pascual up. Strike one, called. Ball one, outside. This was a faster, faster strike two. This was a low drive into the left field stands.

Pascual fired out to Hafey. Koenig up. Strike one, called. Strike two, called. Sherdel was working the corner of the plate, both in and outside. Ball one, outside.

Methodists Meet at Modena Church

The fourth annual mid-year conference of the local Preachers' Association of the New York State Conference was held at the Methodist Episcopal Church at Modena Tuesday, October 2. An attractive pamphlet has been prepared containing the interesting features of the conference, which is given here in outline: "Introduction to the Local Preachers" by the Rev. John E. Parker brought forth by the interesting query: "Who are the Local Preachers?" and the equally interesting answer who they were: their organization at Poughkeepsie in 1910 when a delegation of preachers serving the New York Conference formed the Local Preachers' Association. Quoting the pamphlet: "The main object of the association is to stimulate, help and encourage the brethren who as 'Supplies' are serving some of the hardest and most remote charges of the conference."

The local preachers without appointments are minute men; equipped and ready for such work for God and Humanity as they may discover or may be assigned to them. Then follows the pastoral record—the Reverends Samuel Ardron, Leo Ashton, A. Lincoln Alloway, Leon Boot, S. M. Cole, George E. Coxehead (without charge), T. H. Foxton, Walter G. Gritman, Fred Hultz, I. W. Hill (retired), O. W. Lockett, John E. Parker, K. M. Reynolds, A. Rosenberg, H. A. Seaman, Robert Stahl, C. Alfred Smith, L. Terwilliger, H. Thompson, Wilfred Van Iderstine, George W. Webel, F. Zink (without appointment). Honorary members, George W. Rice, A. M. Scriber. The program of the conference was next in order. Slogan: "Fellowship." Morning session at 10:30, business session of the association; 12:30, noon lunch with menu of meat loaf, potatoes, tomatoes, rolls, pickles, cake, peaches, coffee. This lunch was served by the Modena Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church.

The afternoon session commenced at 1:45. Devotions, led by the Rev. Fred Hultz; 2. Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, administered by president, vice president and president emeritus. 2:30—Address of Welcome by Laymen of Entertaining Church, Joseph E. Hasbrouck, Jr. Response for Association. The Rev. Samuel Ardron. 3:00—Memorial Service conducted by the Rev. K. M. Reynolds. 3:15—Address—"Echoes of a Long Pastorate" by the Rev. W. G. Gritman. 3:45—Introduction of district superintendents and visiting members of the conference. 4:30—Address, the Rev. Frank A. Scofield, D. D., of New York city. 5:30—"The New Pension Plan," an interpretation by the Rev. Arthur Thompson.

Evening Session. 7:00—Banquet. Menu: Cocktail a la Methodist, chicken and gravy, potatoes, lima beans and corn, salad, celery hearts, biscuits, jelly, coffee, apple pie and ice cream. This also was served by Ladies' Aid Society. After dinner speakers were Dr. J. J. Henry, district superintendent of Newburgh and the Rev. Frank A. Scofield, D. D., of New York city. Invocation—the Rev. E. C. White. Following the program in the pamphlet are the resolutions adopted by the official board of the Modena Methodist Church at a meeting held September 12, in memory of the late Rev. Frank E. Ray, who died at the Modena Methodist parsonage while in charge of the local pastorate. Beautiful words of solace are extended to Mrs. Ray, widow of the deceased, and his two sons, Frank, Jr., and Harold Ray. Resolutions are signed by the Rev. W. Van Iderstine, president and J. E. Hasbrouck, Jr., secretary. The final article is entitled "Information," and regards the "Rice Foundation" for retired supply pastors, their wives and children, prepared by the Rev. George W. Rice, ex-treasurer of New York city.

Worker Meant Well, but He Spoiled Show

When the women of a Glendale church prepared for their annual dramatics a miniature log cabin was one of the stage properties necessary, says the Los Angeles Times. An industrial lumber obtained the loan of a load of rough slabs with which to build the cabin, and they were delivered and placed in a neat pile just outside the church.

Husbands and men friends had agreed to gather prior to the presentation to construct the scenery. When the first of the group arrived he was astonished to hear a power saw in action, and after greetings were exchanged, the volunteer worker exclaimed: "I was passing and saw this pile of wood, and, being a church man myself, I thought it would help the church out if I sawed it up with my power outfit."

Not Quite Plain Enough

A fellow-scribbler tells us that one recent evening, while waiting for a car somewhere in the wilds of Benches, a mammy who looked as though she had just stepped off the side of a buckwheat flour box came up to him and inquired:

"Pa'don me, sah—but does you all have da time?"

"Why, yes," he replied, and extracted his gold ticker from his hip—that is, his vest pocket—he held up the face of the watch, which indicated that it was a quarter of nine.

For a moment she studied the watch in silence and he said nothing. But as he was about to return the chronometer to his pocket, she observed: "Mustah, would you mind speakin' a l'il bit louder. It's somewhat hard o'hearin'."—Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

*THINK what that means: "Mild enough for anybody... and yet they satisfy!" Mild—yes. But something more—a quality of leaf, a skill of blending, that brings out the natural taste and goodness of the tobacco themselves.

Tobacco goodness, and without over-sweetening; mildness with character—that's the Chesterfield difference. And it's the most important difference any cigarette could offer!

Kingston Masons' Trip to Newburgh

On Monday evening, October 8, Kingston Lodge No. 10 F. & A. M., in invitation of Kerem Lodge, No. 1074, will go to Newburgh and confer for them the second section of the third degree on a class of candidates in the Newburgh armory. Kingston Lodge, No. 10, is well known throughout the country for the manner in which it has been conferring this degree for the past 10 years under the leadership of the Hon. John E. Kraft. They have conferred it in New York, Albany, and many other places but this is the first time since 1919 that they will have done it outside of their own state rooms as it is no mean task to transport all the paraphernalia and set up in a strange hall.

On other trips special trains have been used as many as 250 members accompanying the craft team. This time Newburgh being nearby and automobiles being more abundant, it is expected that a large crowd from Kingston will go by automobile. All the members who have cars and can go will notify the secretary how many they can take and those who do not have cars but want to go will send in their names.

The officers and craft team are invited to a dinner at 6:30 with the officers of Kerem Lodge and the district deputy and his staff who are also making a visit to Kerem Lodge and therefore will start earlier than the other members. Time of start will be announced later. After the degree work light refreshments will be served to all members.

River Fog Tied Up Navigation

All Navigation on Hudson River Halted Wednesday Night by Fog That Enveloped River—Nine o'clock in Morning Before Towing Was Resumed.

One of the heaviest fogs in some time blanketed the Hudson river Wednesday night and early today and as a result all navigation was halted until the fog had lifted. The fog set in about 8 o'clock Wednesday night and became so dense and thick that it was not safe for vessels to operate. All of the tows of the Cornell Line tied up for the night and not a wheel turned until about 9 o'clock this morning when the fog had lifted sufficiently to make trips safe.

The ferry transport continued running and was not halted by the fog, but practically every other vessel plying the river tied up until the fog lifted.

The beautiful metal casket in which the body reposed while at the home was completely surrounded by a profusion of floral tributes from a host of surviving relatives and friends and placed near the casket were a number of spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards. Wednesday evening the members of the L. C. B. A., the Sacred Heart Society, the Rosary Society and the Catholic Daughters of America assembled at the home and recited the Rosary for the happy repose of the soul of their departed member. The children's choir of St. Mary's Church, augmented by the voice of Thomas Dolan, sang the responses during the Mass and at its conclusion Mr. Dolan sang "Jesus, Jesus Come to Me". Interment was made in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery, the Rev. Joseph B. Scully, accompanying the cortege and pronouncing the final absolution as the casket incased in a metallic vault was laid to rest.

Typhoid Fever Epidemic in Olean

Olean, N. Y., Oct. 4 (AP).—An epidemic of Typhoid fever here has caused one death and made necessary the transfer to Buffalo of a meeting of the Genesee conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Helen Heberly, 19, first victim of the epidemic, died in a hospital last night. Fifty-five cases of the disease have been reported and thirty others are suspected.

The conference was to have met here on October 10 in Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, but the Rt. Rev. Adna Wright Leonard, bishop of the Buffalo area, announced today that due to the epidemic the conference would be shifted to the Central Park Church in Buffalo.

Outbreak of the fever is believed to have been caused by water taken from wells in the Allegany river after state authorities had forbidden its use unless properly chlorinated and despite the fact that the city water supply is filtered.

Lord Derby's Toboggan Wins. Newmarket, Eng., Oct. 4 (AP).—Lord Derby's toboggan, by hurrying out on out of Glacier, won the jockey club stakes today.

WILBUR MINSTREL MADE BIG HIT AT ST. MARY'S

The minstrel and dance held in St. Mary's Hall Wednesday night for the benefit of Holy Name Parish, Wilbur, proved a social and financial success. The show, coached by Miss Adeline Walker, made a big hit with the audience, who gave generous applause from the raising of the curtain to the closing chorus.

Plenty of vocal solos, interspersed by much humor and several dance numbers, made up the minstrel, which now has four successful performances to its credit. The soloists were the Misses Florence Madden, Anna Reilly, Sally Krum, Anna Butler, Helen Schlegel, Anna O'Neill, Mary Quigley, Marie McCarroll, Helen Schick, Elvira Schick, Frank Grady, Thomas Hoffman, James Conlon, Bob Cullum and Eddie Noonan. Miss Adeline Walker put over a novelty dance number in admirable style, while Johnny Fisher, one of the end men, did his usual turn as a class stepper in a way that brought forth much applause. Tommy Stenson, George Reis and Johnny Doolin were the other end men, who kept the audience in a merry mood throughout the show.

After the show dancing was enjoyed with music by John Ernie's orchestra. The ladies of Holy Name Parish served refreshments, which were relished by all.

The Rev. P. F. Dooley, pastor of Holy Name Parish, appreciates the cooperation of all who helped to make the minstrel a success, and wishes to express his thanks to them.

MELLON WELL SATISFIED WITH HIS PRESENT WORK

Washington, Oct. 4 (AP).—Andrew W. Mellon is well satisfied with his present work and has given to thought to changing, he said today in discussing reports that he had been selected to retain his post as secretary of the treasury in case Herbert Hoover is elected president. The secretary added that if Hoover had determined he should again head the financial department of the government he knew nothing of it.

"At my age I might as well work here as anywhere else," he said, "I have made no plans about retiring."

Both men enjoyed the trip over Kingston in a plane from Powell Field. The flight was the first for Mr. Partlan, but held no "first time thrill" for B. J. Donovan. He was one of the first Kingston people to ride in a plane here several years ago.

RADIO CAMPAIGNING

It is said to cost $4,000 to broadcast an hour to broadcast a political speech over the "Red Network" and $5,000 to $7,000 an hour over the "Blue Network". From which it can be seen that radio campaigning is expensive. The campaign leaders, on every radio fan knows, are going in for this form of propaganda far more heavily than ever before. Their broadcasting bills will probably be their biggest single item of expense. The Democratic national committee is expected to spend $500,000 in this way, and the Republican committee not much less. With the added broadcasting expenditures of state committees and other groups, the radio bill will total well over $1,000,000.

Is it worth the money? That is something nobody knows, as yet. Neither the broadcasting concerns nor the committees paying the bills have been able to get a line on the situation. They are shooting in the dark, hoping for the best. Radio addresses bring to the broadcasting stations numerous compliments and some kicks, but not enough of either to settle the question. "Applause" cards and letters may be deceptive. People who take the trouble to write are usually complimentary. The critical or indifferent may say nothing.

One interesting fact regarded as pretty well established is the conclusion that "nobody will listen to a political speech for more than an hour." This makes a good time limit, at any rate, which might well be followed by all campaigners. Often half an hour is better. Such limitation makes for terseness, straightforwardness and interest, improving campaign oratory.

ILLUMINATING HISTORY.

In a letter to the New York Times Augustus Thomas, the veteran playwright, recalls that the Federal Constitution, during the period of its discussion and before its final ratification by the thirteen States, was "in many communities burned in public bonfires as an overtone of oppression." A better illustration of what has been done to the Constitution when certain of its provisions were believed to run counter to popular will in sections of the country is to be found in events during the decade before the Civil War. We do not refer to the spectacular burning of a copy of the venerable instrument at Framingham, Mass., by William Lloyd Garrison, who denounced it as "a covenant with death and a league with hell," but to the statutory repudiation by the Northern State legislatures of the fugitive-slave-catching provision of our slavery-providing Constitution—such bold and deliberate nullification being demanded by Northern popular will.

This illuminating bit of history can not be too often called to the attention of those extravagant partisans who declare and pretend to believe that in these times it is reasonable even to propose modification of a law based on a Constitutional amendment. The Constitution is not a sacred document as that. The will of the people has repeatedly caused its modification, and it ever the time comes when it can be done no more we shall no longer deserve the name of a free people.

THE INDIAN VOTE.

There is a brand-new field for political appeal in the present campaign. All native-born Indians—and it is a rare Indian who is not native-born—have the right to vote, as full citizens. The total number of Indians, men, women and children, is only about 340,000, so the redskins will hardly determine the election. Yet they may be a factor to reckon with in Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico.

One of the vice-presidential candidates has an advantage with them because of his Indian blood. Chief Buffalo Child Long Lance of the Blackfoot tribe makes an appeal for him on the ground that "He has slept in a wigwam, he has eaten of the buffalo, he has seen tribes on the war-path and has sat in their council."

The situation is complicated, however, by the fact that both of the presidential candidates have been brought up into Indian tribes.

Will Rogers advises women to vote as they like, but not to try explaining their votes. It is good advice for both sexes. The women may be misled by the men in giving their explanations, possibly because they have had less practice. But anybody who imagines that masculine logic for voting are logical about analyzing a few of the explanations given by friends and acquaintances. It doesn't seem to matter much whether the explainer is a college graduate or an illiterate, a diamond digger or a millionaire. The woman represented to make clear why the voter has voted, or intends to vote, in a certain way, often sounds as infantile as if they came from the kindergarten. Usually they are based on feelings rather than thought. The eternal miracle of democracy is the fact that it does work, in spite of the kind of political thinking people do and the chaotic and contradictory account they give themselves and each other for their political decisions.

THE VEGETABLE DIET.

Sometime ago I wrote about two powerful men, one a vegetarian and the other a meat eater. As to strength and physical endurance they appeared to be equal. They were the two outstanding men in the gymnasium in all round ability. The vegetarian ate eggs and milk, which in a sense are animal foods, and also ate plenty of cereals. Dr. McCollum of Johns Hopkins says, "It is not true that vegetarianism is a physiologic impossibility." Thousands of vegetarians stand ready to refute such an assertion by the example of their own experiences. He says however that it is possible to make a fairly satisfactory diet of foods derived almost entirely from vegetable sources, but it is not easy to do so.

As you know, the white rat is considered the best animal on which to work out diet experiments, as its diet is practically the same as man. Now as the diet of the majority of Chinese people is largely vegetarian the Peking Union Medical College in China experimented with vegetable diets on white rats. In order to get proteins to make up for lack of meat, eggs, and milk, they experimented with peas, beans, and cereals. As these lacked certain vitamins and minerals, leafy vegetables were used to help out this part of the diet. All of common cereals, peas, beans, and twenty varieties of vegetables were experimented with, but no combination of them were as efficient as the diet now used by the Chinese, which includes milk and eggs. The Peking investigators therefore conclude that no vegetarian diet is known at present which would afford the best diet for the white rat. Since the building up and tearing down processes in the cells of the white rat have been shown to be similar to that of a human being, and the white rat has for many thousands of years eaten the same things as human beings, it seems justifiable to conclude that the best nutrition of human beings cannot be obtained by purely vegetarian diets.

I am giving you the above facts for what they are worth. In the handling and conditioning of men for a number of years, I have found that meat or eggs are essential where the individual does heavy work or exercise. For the office man or woman it is "possible" to work out a diet without meat, as research men at University of Michigan have stated, but eggs and milk simplify the proposition. TWENTY AND TEN YEARS AGO. Oct. 4, 1908—Miss Mary Gotelli and Joseph Carpinotto married. The Rev. Howard E. Snyder began his pastoral duties at Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. Oct. 4, 1918—Dr. Luther Emerick of Saugerties re-elected president of Third District Branch of the Medical Society of State of New York at meeting held here. Charles B. Barnes, state superintendent of United States Employment Service, gave interesting talk at Chamber of Commerce dinner at Y. M. C. A. Stating that he could make more money as a plumber than as a policeman. C. Lester Legg filed his resignation with police board. The body of Private Floyd Spring who died of pneumonia at Camp Jackson arrived in Saugerties. Sources Business Position. Miss Nettie E. Louise Tetterman, a recent graduate of Spencer's Business School, 237-239 Fair street, has secured a desirable and permanent position as stenographer and secretary with the New England Hat Co., Inc., 2-11 West Fourth street, New York city.

HOW

WRITERS HAVE MADE USE OF SLANG TERM "BOOZE." "Booze" is not a word of recent coinage, as is commonly supposed. Although it is now classed as slang, in varying forms it has been part of the English language for centuries. It appears variously as "boozie," "house," "houze" and "houze." The verb "boozen," meaning to guzzle or drink to excess, was a reputable word in the time of Edmund Spenser. In the "Faerie Queene" the poet refers to a character who carried a "boozing can." A similar form of the word occurs frequently in the Scotch of Robert Burns. There is no reason to suppose, as a few authorities do, that our word "booze" is derived from the Turkish "buhaj," which is applied in Syria to sherbets and similar drinks. Nor is it probable, as sometimes stated, that the slang term is derived from the surname of a Philadelphia distiller named E. C. Booz, who about the middle of the Nineteenth century sold whisky in bottles stamped, "E. C. Booz's Old Cabin Whisky."—Exchange.

How Fern Lovers May Protect Their Plants

There are few insects which trouble the indoor fern and these plants also are subject to few diseases, but when they are troubled no time should be lost in taking remedial steps. This, of course, also applies to all other plants whether they are growing in the house or outdoors. The commonest fern enemy is scale on the stems and leaves. When thus infested the plants should be turned upside down, holding the soil and roots so that they cannot fall out of the pots, and dipped into a pail filled with a mixture of an ounce of nicotine solution and a half ounce of soap dissolved in water. After dipping, the plants should be kept in the shade 24 hours. A weekly spraying with the same mixture is advisable as an extra treatment. In case the scale has made much headway before you discover it, it will be well to remove entirely the most affected fronds before administering the prescribed treatment.

How Japan Educates Voters

Because about 50 per cent of the voters under the new manhood suffrage law failed to go to the polls at the last election, Japan will try to popularize the use of the franchise before the elections of 1929. The authorities do not believe the people are indifferent, but voting was prevented under certain circumstances. The government is negotiating with private factories to allow their employees to go to the polls. The social education bureau is putting emphasis upon citizen's education and spreading more knowledge about the exercise of voting. Speeches urging voting are being made during intermissions at motion picture and other theaters throughout Japan.

How Pulse Is Tested

A remarkable new instrument which records the rise and fall of the pulse on a ticker tape much as the rise and fall of the stock market is recorded has been invented by a Brooklyn doctor. The cardiometer is an improvement over the electrocardiograph in that the person under observation can exercise, eat, talk, sleep, laugh or do anything else he likes, provided he keeps himself insulated by walking on rubber flooring, wearing rubber shoes or sleeping in a bed insulated by rubber castors. The cardiometer picks up the action current of the heart, amplifies it, counts it and prints its findings on a ticker tape with a marvellous delicacy and precision.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is a guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and many forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Candidates and Religious Issue

Louis Marshall Says Both Leading Parties and Candidates Are Free From Taint of Religious Intolerance and Cannot Be Judged by Individual Animosity.

"Why should one speak of a religious issue when there is absolutely no occasion or basis for it?" asks Louis Marshall, lawyer and trustee of Syracuse University, in a letter addressed Wednesday to Samuel C. Lamport, prominent Jewish manufacturer and philanthropist. Mr. Lamport had written to Mr. Marshall asking for his views on the subject of the alleged "religious issue" in the present political campaign. Mr. Marshall replies that "the very suggestion of a religious issue arouses my ire, because it seems to cast suspicion upon the soundness of the very foundations of our government, and by doing so would cause irreparable injury to our cherished institutions."

Mr. Marshall reviews the attitude of both leading parties and of their respective candidates. He declares that both parties and candidates are free from taint of religious intolerance and have announced their abhorrence in most emphatic terms. Both candidates, he says, have evinced the broadest liberality toward all religious faiths. Mr. Hoover, says Mr. Marshall, is of Quaker descent and has given convincing evidence of his freedom from bias or prejudice. Mr. Smith "is a sincere Catholic who has likewise demonstrated that he makes no distinction of race or creed."

Don't Judge Candidates by Individuals.

"An analysis of the mental operations of a considerable part of our population would disclose a most complicated state of mind, replete with inconsistencies, devoid of logic, and frequently based on strictly personal considerations," says Mr. Marshall. "Consequently, if parties and candidates were to be judged by the personal views of selected individuals, politics and government would become hopelessly chaotic. I trust that we shall never witness here the complexity prevailing on the European continent caused by a multitude of parties subdivided into an infinite variety of groups and blocs founded on hair-splitting shades of opinions inconsistent with the practical administration of government."

"You and I know that there are Democrats and Republicans as well as those who are moved by a virulent hatred of Jews and who consistently refuse to vote for Jews placed in nomination by the political parties to which such bigots belong. Is this insane dilution of abnormal individuals to be regarded as creating a political issue? Are the political parties to be treated as merged in the individuals who entertain such hateful opinions? If such a view were to obtain when, where and how will party lines be drawn?"

What Can Party Leaders Do? "Thus, for example, if there are some Protestants who decline to vote for Catholics, are there not also Catholics who are unwilling to vote for Protestants? How can the number of those swayed by religious hostility be determined? How can they be identified by party leaders? What can the latter do to counteract motives of this character which are usually secretly entertained? How can they deal with those so influenced who are not of their own party?" "So far as I have been able to observe during the reading campaign, the strongest individual animosity based on religion that has been expressed, has been by Democrats living in that part of this country which for more than fifty years has been solidly Democratic. If some of these Democrats threaten to desert their own party, why should their abnormal conduct, pursued on their own initiative, be twisted to an argument that the Republican candidate for the Presidency should be defeated on an issue of religious intolerance, when he has firmly set his face against it and when there is probably no man in this country who is freer from intolerance than he?"

The Daughter of His Enemy

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

JOHN SHERMAN had great plans for his son Philip, but they did not include marriage in the near future. "It's all very well, my boy, to play around with the girls in a friendly sort of way, but avoid any extraneous alliances for the present."

Therefore the bit of news he had just read was a thunderbolt for which he was unprepared.

Mrs. Leslie Budgett of 14 Mansfield street announces the engagement of her daughter Gloria to Philip Sherman of West Park road. Miss Budgett is a scintillating member of "Whisper Society Are You?"

Perhaps it is best to allow Philip's father a few minutes to get control of himself and to shift the scene, meanwhile, from his private office to the outer room where Philip, all unconscious of the late summons about to be his, lingers beside the desk of the firm's most capable stenographer, Eloise Smith.

"No, Philip, I will not lurch with you. Run along now and sell your bonds or whatever it is you do to make yourself invaluable to your father."

"Have a heart, Eloise!"

"Philip, you know as well as I do that my job here would be worth exactly nothing at all if your father ever learned that I was the daughter of his old enemy. I will not philander with his son. And that's—"

At this moment the door of the inner office was flung open by an unseen hand within. "Philip!"

Both heads turned at the note in John Sherman's voice.

"Yes, sir!" Then the door closed upon both of them.

Eloise frowned. Was it possible her employer had found out that the daughter of the man he had once hated, now dead, was drawing a salary as one of his stenographers?

But, within, the older man was thrusting the newspaper under his son's eyes and pointing out the offending item with a finger that shook. "Who is she?" demanded his father.

"She's the third girl from the end in the front row with the pink hat," said Philip.

John Sherman's rage became apoplectic. "Now, don't get on" any gas about her being poor but honest."

"Oh, she's poor, all right!" said Philip.

"What do you mean?"

"Oh, forget it, dad," said Philip wearily. "After all, it's your fault. You told me to play around with the girls but not to marry them. Well, some girls don't want to be played around with. There was a girl—only she happened to be the daughter of your old rival, W. B. Smith. I knew you wouldn't stand for her."

"Who said I wouldn't stand for her? Don't you suppose I'd prefer you to marry W. B. Smith's daughter a hundred times rather than this—this—"

"Gloria's all right," said Philip, "and her father's a respectable merchant. Sells fish—and caviar."

"Get out of here!" shouted his father.

Ten minutes later Philip had left the building and had found the nearest telephone booth.

"I say, Gloria," he was demanding presently, "have you seen the newspaper? What's the big idea?"

A hearty laugh came over the wire. "My wicked publicity man," she said. "I told him, like I told you yesterday, that I was engaged. Only you know it was Jimmy Marvin. But this fellow, my not mentioning any names, thought it was you, or more likely he thought there'd be good advertising for me by using your name. He's a bird. But don't worry, old dear. It's being corrected in tomorrow morning's paper."

Another mad dash and Philip was back in the outer office. "Eloise," he said, rather out of breath, "you must go to lunch with me. I want to ask you to marry me and you'll admit a stuffy office is no place for a proposal."

"What would your father say?"

"That's all right," said Philip easily. "He as good as gave his consent twenty minutes ago!"

Philip strode to the door of his father's office and flung it open. "I say, dad, here I am back again, and didn't you tell me you'd a hundred times rather I married Eloise here than some other people I won't mention?"

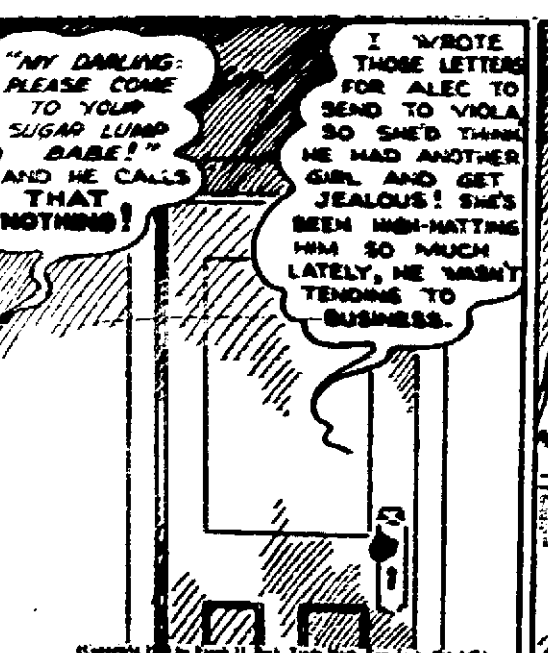

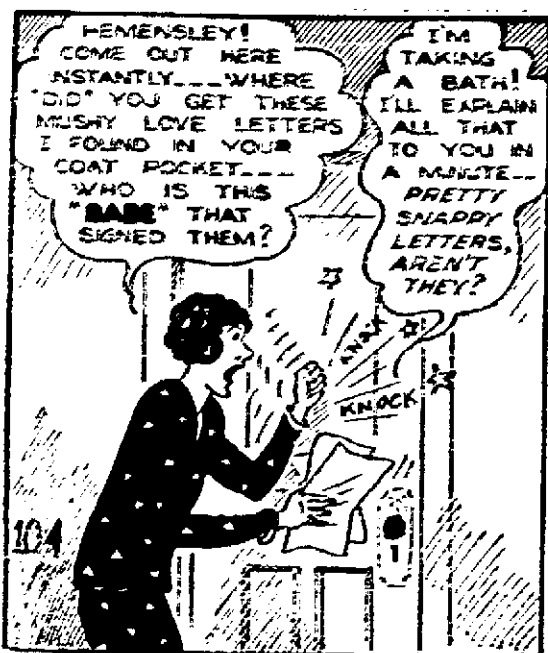

But Eloise had risen and was standing with her hand at her throat. "Please!" she begged.

John Sherman had risen also, and his glance had been none too kind. Now, falling on the girl, it softened.

"You're a great deal too good for my crazy son," he said. "W. B. Smith may have been my enemy years ago, but he was a man of character and his daughter would be like him. Oh, yes, ever since you came here, looking at one with your father's eyes, I have known who you were. For Heaven's sake, if you can make a man out of Philip, you're welcome to try!"

Eloise and Philip looked at one another. Then, "I've got a thing or two to explain to dad as well as you," he said. "Afterwards, may I take you to lunch?"

GAS BUGGIES—Phew!

Highland P. T. A. Plans Activities

At the regular meeting of Highland Parent-Teacher Association presided over by Mrs. Mabel Rathgeb, Monday, it was reported that plans are progressing nicely for the fair to be sponsored by the organization. Mrs. Mary Hitchcock, treasurer, reported $155.25 as the amount in the general fund and $191.39 as the playground account.

The fair is expected to be an outstanding event in Highland. The large tent recently used by the Pentecostal Church has been secured for the occasion and will be set up on the school lawn. A committee composed of Walter Seaman, Arthur Merritt and J. Wells Weaver will have charge of tent and booth arrangements. Henry Kelly will supervise the staging of an amateur boxing contest. Mrs. Harold Ford and Mrs. Millard Everett will have charge of the prize cakes and pies.

Boys and girls expect to surpass the talent exhibited last year by articles made in the schools. Mrs. Andre DuBois will have charge of awarding the winners in this branch of the fair. Principal Stanton has some excellent ideas worked out for the fair, which will be featured by a parade. After an entertainment given in the evening it is expected the affair will end with a dance to be given in Smith's Hall.

Donations as prizes for events or exhibits will be very acceptable. Mrs. Maud Upright, physical director of the schools, has arranged some very original contests for the grade children. Harold T. Wiley has charge of events for high school pupils.

The Parent-Teacher Association of Highland also expects to hold a musical comedy, "All Aboard," some time in the spring. This will be preceded by a concert during the winter.

Organ of Sight

A layer of interlaced and matted nerves on the inside surface of the back part of the eyeball does the seeing. This is called the retina, which means network. The rest of the eye is a camera with a lens in front, like an ordinary photographic camera. It makes a picture on the retina like the picture on the back of the camera. The retina communicates this picture to the brain.

THE EFFECTIVE LAXATIVE IN TASTY MINTS

Sold by all druggists in two generous sizes, 15c and 25c

Why Continue to Patch Up Your Poor Weak Gassy Stomach

Why not look the facts in the face!

Relievers relieve for a few hours—but that's all they do—or can do.

Continually paying out good money for just a few hours' relief isn't exactly common sense.

Why not get hold of a good prescription—one that not only stops gas, acidity, sourness and indigestion in a few minutes, but will also build up your distressed and run down stomach in two or three weeks and put it in such a sound, healthy condition that you'll be able to digest the heartiest meal without the least discomfort?

Why not ask McBride's Drug Store or any druggist anywhere for QUELS—it is the one good remedy that every man or woman who suffers from stubborn, suffocating indigestion needs and ought to have.

If you suffer from obstinate indigestion or acid dyspepsia, why not give QUELS the chance they deserve?—They are not expensive—just a few cents a box.

Start today with this supremely efficient prescription—chew and swallow two QUELS after each meal—as palatable as candy.

And here's something more—if after chewing one box of QUELS you don't say they did more to help your disordered stomach than anything you ever tried—get your money back. Guaranteed by McCoy's Laboratories, 62 West 14th St., New York, distributors of McCoy's Tablets, and McCoy's Cod Liver Oil.

Station Hunting Revived By Nov. 11 Reallocation

By Alexander R. George

(Associated Press Feature Writer)

Washington, Oct. 4 (AP).—Millions of radio listeners will start the big hunt for stations November 11 when the new allocation is scheduled to go into effect.

The fact will find a large majority of the stations, including the old favorites, those easy to tune in and the remote ones that have lured the "distance hounds" in new places on the dial. Wavelength changes have been made in all parts of the country, and many of the larger stations which formerly operated during all the night hours will be on the air only part of the evening.

The time limitation which the federal radio commission insists is necessary to accommodate all of the stations on an equality basis in the limited number of channels, has resulted in many complaints by dissatisfied broadcasters. Such stations as WGY, Schenectady, and WAIL, Columbus, which will be on channels cleared at night for Pacific coast stations, are especially hard hit. They will be compelled to sign off at sunset. Pacific coast time, in order to prevent interference.

The old and new wavelengths and description of channel conditions formerly leading stations in all sections of the country, as announced by the commission, follow:

"More Power to You" says the Electric Motor

It took 300 tired, aching slaves to row a single galley through the seas of Europe during the Roman conquests. Three hundred chained human machines, each to be fed, driven and lashed, and in the end contributing but a feeble part of the necessary power.

Today one 30 horsepower electric motor, so small that it would fit in an ordinary clothes closet, would propel the same vessel at even greater speed.

Electric motors have become the modern burden bearer—in industry, on the farms and in the homes. And as they are available in any size, no task requiring power need be done by hand.

Corset Styles Provided for All Types of Dress

The old days of corsets are gone, but with every type of dress to go with it, there is a corset to go with it. The corset is still a necessity, but it is no longer a nuisance. It is now a part of the dress, and it is made to be comfortable and attractive.

Brilliant Hat Featured in Fall Fashion Show

Hats with a new twist or no twist at all were featured at the recent New York fall fashion presentation at the Hotel Marlborough.

The most popular styles were broad in outline, with wide brims, dark gray tones and brilliant blues, depending entirely upon the accompanying dress.

Probably the most striking feature was a new type of evening hat, a design that it can be carried in the pocket or coat sleeve.

The hats for day wear had either a narrow brim or none at all, with the full colored wraps only the brimless hat was worn. The best, shell and top appeared the most popular.

Colored Lace Is Popular

Colored lace is firmly established for afternoon dresses and ensembles and for dinner and evening wear. Oatmeal and champagne colors vie in popularity with navy and other shades of blue.

Mixture of Grains

The word "pulse" is translated to mean any of the leguminous grains such as beans, peas or lentils or as a mixture of such grains in a meal or flour to be made into cakes.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

Egg Shells and Diamonds Proved an Effective Combination.

New York—Egg shells and diamonds seem a combination no more maligned than egg shells and diamonds. But these two old-fashioned accessories are up to date in the back of the fashion of the new in Paris.

It comes about this way: Small bits of broken egg shells are set into enamel while it is still wet. When dried and polished the egg shells contribute their natural surface effect to the enamel, and the enamel is then studied by or set with diamonds and other precious stones. The result is a piece of jewelry that is as beautiful as the original, but then what jewelry is not?

Egg shells, incidentally, is the name also of a color, an exceedingly attractive one. It is aptly named, and is liked by many in preference to white. It is an intensified ivory, flattering to most complexions.

As reported, pearls have regained their lost prestige, if indeed it was ever really lost. The secret of effective jewelry is, of course, that it be appropriate for both the occasion and the costume. French women give a great deal of thought to this, which has resulted in the demand for costume jewelry, judged by no other standard than effectiveness. With only precious jewels permissible, it would be impossible for most of us to match our jewels to our gowns.

washes clothes whiter IN TUB OR WASHING MACHINE

Mrs. Myrtle Flowers,
6 Crown St., says:
"Works fine in washer"

"Rinso washes my clothes white with just about half the work!"

"Why, when I take them out of the washer everything is so spotless that there's not a bit of hard work for me to do."

"And it's so safe! The clothes don't fray nearly so quickly now—there's so little rubbing."

"Rinso is great for dishwashing and all kinds of cleaning. It makes such thick, cleansing suds that the work is done in almost no time. It saves me from keeping my hands in hot water, too."

MRS. MYRTLE FLOWERS,
6 Crown St., Kingston, N. Y.

"Saves boiling, too!" say thousands

The letter above is typical of thousands received from de lighted Rinso users. "Never saw such lively, lasting suds!" they say. "Dirt soaks out like magic," they tell us. "Even boiling isn't needed now," they write in letter after letter.

Challenge Flavor Test baffles healthy young appetites. Agree unanimously that the most expensive spread-for-bread tastes exactly like

JELKE
GOOD LUCK
MARGARINE

WHEREVER the Challenge Flavor Test is made, always the result is the same. Neither the unspoiled appetites of young folk nor the educated palates of food connoisseurs can find any difference between Jelke GOOD LUCK Margarine and the most expensive spread-for-bread.

The latest "jury" to test and judge this issue are the sixteen alert, vigorous and healthy girls comprising a Troop of Girl Scouts.

But despite a sense of taste as keen as their sight and hearing, these young lovers of outdoor life decided unanimously that Jelke GOOD LUCK Margarine and the most expensive spread-for-bread were exactly alike in flavor.

Challenge Flavor Test reveals a new way to save

Two sandwiches were served to each scout. "Do you detect any difference?" was asked. Not a scout—not one—could tell one from the other.
Yet one sandwich was spread with GOOD LUCK and one with an expensive spread for bread.

If these keen tastes can't discover any difference it's unlikely that your own family will. You might just as well have the saving this high grade margarine gives. Try the Challenge Flavor Test yourself, at home, unannounced! Let the family decide.

LAST NIGHT
on the RADIO

Persistent and loud buzzing Wednesday afternoon subsided in the evening shortly after 5 o'clock and from that time reception was good from the powerful nearby stations. Trade and Mark are back on the air. The tooth paste and soap programs were very clear and the political spellbinders declaimed, declared and denounced without interruption.

Reception this morning was good.

Each of the ten numbers on the Stromberg-Carlson program to be heard Friday evening, October 5, at 10 o'clock from WJZ and associated stations is of a different type and appeals to a different mood. Sentimental ballads, love songs of olden days, a religious hymn of adoration, Ave Maria, played as a violin solo, a medley of southern songs, a light popular selection played on the guitar and the Spanish love song, Marcheta, and other selections of interest make up this unusual diversified program.

The last war between Canada and the United States, starting a century of peace, will be memorialized in the Socoyland Sketch Tuesday night at 7:30 when "The Indian Spring Republic," its rise and fall, goes on the air. Taking advantage of the uncertainty of the boundary between Canada and northern New Hampshire before the Webster-Ashburton treaty, a group of bold, liberty-loving farmers sought to establish their own government within the territory of the vacillating border. The climax to the drama comes with the last fight right in the home cow pasture with the woman folk looking on, all grim and determined.

The Eveready Hour announces a laughter-provoking one-act play as the chief offering of its new program, to be broadcast this Tuesday evening, October 9, over WJZ and 21 associated stations. "The Highest Bidder" is the name of the one-act play to be given. It was written by Everett S. Ruskay, well known to vaudeville patrons as the author of a number of successful playlets. The sketch is described as a faithful satire on the difficulties of young married people who possess an abundance of relatives desirous of making their home with them.

Merle Alcock, the young grand opera star, and Arthur Pryor, veteran band master, will divide honors before the microphone on Monday evening, October 8, when the former's rich contralto voice and the latter's celebrated band will be heard in the General Motors family party for a full hour, from 9:30 to 10:30. Merle of the numbers will be popular classics or the more melodious ballads and folk songs but Mr. Pryor will depart from the prevailing theme of the program in response to numerous requests in order to play "The Wulstler and His Dog," the tune for which he and his band have been famous for a quarter of a century.

STONE RIDGE.

Coolidge To Dedicate
Virginia Battlefields
As New National Park

In the new Fredericksburg, Va., National Battlefields park, where President Coolidge (inset) will speak at the dedication October 9, is the historic battlefield of Salem Church (above). The monument below marks the spot where Gen. T. J. (Stonewall) Jackson was fatally wounded in the Battle of Chancellorsville.

Fredericksburg, Va., Oct. 4 (AP).—Again a president of the United States is to deliver an address upon ground that not quite 70 years ago was drenched with the blood of a country divided against itself. This time, his speech will dedicate as a national park land on which the federal forces of union met severe defeats.

Here, October 9, President Coolidge will speak at the dedicatory ceremonies of the Fredericksburg National Battlefield park, which includes four famous battle sites of the war between the states. Within its bounds were contested the fiercest battles of Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, the Wilderness and Spotsylvania Court House, where historians say more men were killed than in any similar area on the American continent.

Services will be resumed on Sunday night at the Reformed Church. The Rev. Mr. Rugh, of the M. E. Church, will deliver the message on The Shepherd's Psalm, and the song "C. Van Tol." Services will begin at 8 p. m. At 7 o'clock the C. E. of the Reformed Church will meet with Miss Mildred Roosa as leader. The topic will be "Workers Together with God." This month is Loyalty month.

Services at the Reformed Church as usual. The Rev. C. Van Tol will speak on "Directions of Growth" at 10:30 a. m. The Sunday school will meet at 11:45 o'clock under the leadership of L. D. Sabler.

Men from the George Hardy Payne studios of Paterson, N. J., are busy repairing the memorial windows in the Reformed Church.

On October 11, beginning at 6 p. m., the ladies of the M. E. Church will serve a chicken supper in the Sunday school rooms. The public is cordially invited to partake of the good things in store.

The Stone Ridge Men's Community Club met at the Reformed Church on Thursday last.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Westbury, N. Y.—Among those succumbing to the lure of a contest in which the flower of youth speeds above the ground and propels a ball is the greatest aviator. Lindbergh attended the international polo game.

New York—An Arizona artist cowboy is in town with his sombrero, etc., and 22 oil paintings which are being exhibited in one of the city's best known galleries. Jack Van Rader of Spiked Box Ranch, near Tucson, paints when not busy with his cattle. His exhibition is sponsored by a wealthy New York friend. His paintings are mostly mountain and desert scenes.

Balmoral, Scotland—King George has just seen but not heard himself in the talks. He and the Prince of Wales were pictured reviewing the horse-guards, and the sounds of commands to the troops and of hands were recorded. There has been a private showing of the film at the castle.

Crawfordsville, Ind.—Because few horses are being stolen now, the National Horse Thief Detective Association has shortened its name to three words.

New York—The New York Stock Exchange now has its first woman executive. Mrs. Katherine M. Healy of Montclair, N. J., is purchasing agent, succeeding the late Amos P. Hawley, for whom she was secretary.

Tirana, Albania—Having acquired a crown King Zogu now has a navy. It consists of two sloops.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—Mrs. Franklin and Representative Hamilton Fish, Jr., are to debate October 15 a political subject not yet announced. The one is for Smith and Roosevelt; the other for Hoover and Outing.

League Spikes Rumors of a Wider Milk Shed

New York, Oct. 4.—Dr. Shirley Wynne, New York city commissioner of health, today emphatically denied the steps have been taken by his department to extend the New York Milk Shed, according to George F. Pitts, executive assistant of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, Inc.

Following a conference with Commissioner Wynne, Mr. Pitts said he had been given assurance that rumors widely circulated throughout the Milk Shed that the New York Department of Health had or soon would send dairy inspectors into the state to open the way for milk or cream from that state to come into the metropolis were without foundation.

"Dr. Wynne gave assurance that as long as the producers of the present Milk Shed can meet the requirements of New York's market he will not send inspectors into new territory," said Mr. Pitts. "Because the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association has the facts of the available supply we were able to assure Dr. Wynne that the farmers of this territory are able to provide New York its needed milk."

Mr. Pitts pointed out that were it not for the fact that dairy farmers of the New York Milk Shed have an organization through which they can quickly gather accurate information as to the available supplies the supplying territory would have been extended long ago to the detriment of local dairymen. In checking these rumors and furnishing Dr. Wynne with the facts regarding the milk supply, he said, the Dairymen's League had repeated what it first did two years ago when western dairy men entered the New York market. Without an organization possessing of full information of market supplies and demand and able to present the facts to the proper officials producers would suffer from a burdensome surplus in their markets. Farmers of the New York Milk Shed, said Mr. Pitts, can congratulate themselves that there is in New York city a health commissioner who sees and appreciates their problems.

PHYSICIAN'S LURE,

PSYCHOLOGIST SAYS

Philadelphia, Oct. 4 (AP).—Science, always puzzling over the answer to one question that the average man asks is too much for him, now tackles the problem of "Why do people fall in love?"—and answers it. Eyes, says Professor Clarence S. Smith, of the psychology department of Temple University, are the chief lure employed by Cupid. At least, investigators have found more eyes who attributed their state of mind to that source than any other.

In discussing the "Social Characteristics of Adolescents," Professor Smith said that eyes, whether blue, brown or assorted, "are most often responsible for persons falling in love."

According to replies of many who answered a questionnaire, whiteness and excellence of teeth came next in importance and, in some instances, stored irresistible.

"The largest group," he said, "mostly from the male side, pointed to their inamoratas' hair as justification for their sentiments, emphasizing its color, length and arrangement."

"Fourth in order is the nose of the loved one, while the voice rates fifth among the characteristics named. It is not infrequent for those in love to overlook all other deficiencies."

"The standard of beauty is still far in the lead as a qualification used by young persons in selecting a mate."

"Psychology has discovered at least five stages of love leading up to the mating stage, the earlier four being infantile affection, 'puppy love,' the type of affection that sometimes arises between adolescents and much older persons, and the stage in adolescence during which the sexes commonly draw apart, just before the mating stage is reached. The most dangerous is the third stage."

Professor Smith, warning against late marriage, said that to marry later than the middle twenties involves disadvantages that no economic consideration can compensate."

Varying Size of Berge

The size of icebergs varies. They may be 100 or more feet high with crests or mounds from 200 to 300 feet above the base, which may be hundreds of yards in length. In the Kennedy channel, Greely followed an iceberg which was estimated to be 15 miles long, over 100 feet thick and of unknown breadth. A huge iceberg sighted by the bark Emil Julius in 1884 towered about 1,700 feet above the sea. Only about one-eighth or one-tenth of the mass lies above the water.

Her Days of Rest

A suburban woman has a colored day worker whose accomplishment of washing and ironing all in one day is a constant cause of boasting to the curious neighbors. One day she commented her marvel on the origin of fortune that drove her, the mother of 12 children, out to working the day. To her surprise, the puffed-up neighbor replied the pity.

"Hard on me, ma'am? Not a bit of it. Why, the days I go out are the only chance at all that I get to rest myself."—New York Sun.

Airport Work Makes Progress

Work is progressing very rapidly at the airport of the Kingston Airways. Every day men are at work grading and clearing the runway for the landing of the planes. The Texas Company's large monoplane is the first to land at the airport. The plane will land at the airport on the following day. Captain Hawk, who has charge of the plane, has taken many city and country flights for a fight in the past few days. The Kingston Airways will also be at the airport with a plane in connection with the transportation of passengers to and from the airport. The plane is a large one, with a carrying capacity of 10 passengers. Captain Hawk, who is a pilot, is one of the best in the city. This plane is to be used to stimulate interest in aviation in this city and to secure the cooperation of the people for Fred Hobson and James McLean, who have established the port and are trying to put Kingston on a par with other cities in the field of aviation.

STUDY OLD BONES AS CLEW TO MAN

Scientists Examine Relics of Old Bison Hunt.

At a buffet dinner at the Hotel Hamilton, the National Museum of Natural History, Washington, D. C., a group of scientists are examining the bones of a bison which were found at the site of a prehistoric Indian village near the mouth of the Hudson River. The bones were found by a group of men who were hunting for furs and other relics of the Indians. The bones were found in a cave which was about 100 feet deep. The scientists are examining the bones to see if they can determine the age of the bones and the time when the Indians lived there. The bones are of a bison which was about 10 feet long and 6 feet high. The scientists are also examining the bones of a bison which was found at the same site. The bones are of a bison which was about 10 feet long and 6 feet high. The scientists are also examining the bones of a bison which was found at the same site.

The examinations are being conducted by the Colorado Museum of Natural History and the American Museum of Natural History. The stone arrowheads used in the hunt have been found close to bones of bison supposed to have become extinct in America long before men appeared on this continent. If the stone weapons were shot at this living game, as the evidence indicates, the conclusion of some scientists is that men must have inhabited America at least 10,000 years, possibly even 20,000 years ago.

Eagles Prey on Lambs

There is a high mortality among the young of the bison or mammoth sheep. This is due to the toll of young taken by eagles. The lambs fall easy victims to the big birds of prey.

The SANDMAN STORY

BUTTERFLY'S FAREWELL

MR. MONARCH BUTTERFLY flew up at the smiling happy face of Mr. Sun. Then he looked down at the milkweed plant upon which he was perched.

"I'll have to leave you," he said to the milkweed plant, "but you will come along, too," he added, as once more he looked at Mr. Sun.

Mr. Sun smiled as much as to say that that was right.

What a life he had been, the Monarch thought to himself. And people ever realize what a thrilling, exciting, sweet life a butterfly could have? He went back in his little butterfly mind over the summer.

He hadn't remembered when he had been but a little egg on one of these milkweed plants. Nor did he remember when he had hatched out into a tiny black and white caterpillar. But he had been told that he had been a dear little baby caterpillar, and then life had begun in earnest for him.

My! He shivered as he thought of it now—that day when he had been almost trampled upon three times. What a day that had been.

Then he had changed into a beautiful Chrysalis, wearing a gorgeous green suit with gold decorations.

And ever since he had left off that suit for his present one he had decided he would not change again.

"If I did," he said to himself, "it would upset all the Rules of Butterfly Air." He spoke of it as Butterfly Air instead of Butterfly Land, as he spent so much time in the air.

"Besides," he had decided, "every one knows me as I am now. At least

I hope they know the Monarch. I hope when they see a handsome butterfly of brown with smart black lines and white-spotted black wing edges and head decorations that it is a Monarch they are beholding.

"But if they don't know that, I'd like to tell them a secret. We're always in the neighborhood of the milkweed plants from the time we're babies until we're quite grown up. And if I could put up Butterfly signs to direct people to our homes I'd print on the signs:

"To the Milkweed Plants in the Country Homes of the Famous Monarch Butterflies."

Lately he had been very glad that butterflies could not put up signs telling people where their homes were, for he had had several narrow escapes from butterfly nets.

"And now I'm going on my journey," he said, "but before I go I shall pay a farewell call on my old friend Sir Clouded Sulphur Butterfly."

The Monarch left the milkweed plant and took one last look about him. "I haven't left anything behind," he said, "because I never take anything with me. I don't need a toothbrush and I don't need a washrag. All I need is myself."

And that I always have. Perhaps I should not speak of myself in such a fashion, but when a butterfly is about to take a great long journey he cannot think of such little trifles.

"Ah, what a time I'll have. And Mr. Sun will go with me. For Mr. Sun and I are the best of friends."

"But of course I must say a goodbye to Sir Clouded Sulphur Butterfly. That I must do, and then I will be all ready to start."

"Belch-ho," he said.

"I do believe," he added after a moment, "that I will sing a song about Mr. Sun."

This was the Monarch's song:

The Sun is high and mighty,
And yet he's not a snob;
For he doesn't turn his face aside,
But will smile at any old mob.

"Oh, that is a fine song," said Mr. Sun after the Monarch had finished.

"I am truly delighted."

"You deserve it, you deserve it," said the Monarch, as he started off for the last call he was to make before he took his journey south for the winter months.

"Thank you, thank you," called Mr. Sun after him. "I cannot begin to tell you how pleased I am. But perhaps I'll be able to show you in my sunny fashion."

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Oct. 4. (AP) — State Department of Agriculture and Markets. The short supply of apples New York fancy, well headed the Boston lettuce and large romaine available on the local wholesale market this morning sold readily and prices advanced to $1.01 per crate. Lettuce and Romaine shipments from this state to Sept. 26, 1934, has amounted to 2,884 cars as against 2,015 for the same period last season.

Fruit business continued rather dull. Trading was limited and arrivals from the western part of the state were moderate. A large volume of the sales of No. 1 Elmira was consummated at $1.00 to $1.01 per bushel basket.

Arrivals of celery from western New York and Oswego county were light. The undersides of the market was slightly improved but only on fancy well blanched stock. Selling prices were made at $2.00 to $2.01 occasionally $2.02 per two-thirds crate. For the finest offerings in the market, upgrade every brought from $1.75 to $2.00.

Supplies of state spinach were light. The demand was active, especially of fancy and value strengthening. Government packed in bushel baskets peddled out at $1.75 to $1.85 and lettuce crates at $1.75 to $1.75, depending upon the condition and quality.

Despite the rather light arrivals of state apples and pears, internal supplies were on hand from previous arrivals. The general market situation was dull and weaker, except on strictly fine quality fruit.

Fancy tender string beans continued scarce and high in price. Inferior stock, however, sold lower. The finest green beans commanded as high as $2.50 per bushel basket; wax reached $2.00, and lima beans $1.75.

Cabbage values were sustained in a steady to firm market. Receipts were light and the demand was confined principally to domestic stock. The latest jobbing business on white domestic, in bulk, was $4.00 to $4.50 per ton and Danish $4.50 to $5.00.

The demand for Hudson valley Concord grapes was more active and prices tended upward. Supplies were moderate. Sales at wholesale were made at 55c to 60c per two-thirds quart basket. On the corresponding date one year ago, Concord grapes sold at 75c to $1.15.

Gold in the Pavement

Louis XIV had one of the courts of his palace at Versailles paved with squares of silver, each of which recorded some triumph to the French arms. These surrounded a large tablet of gold, in the center of which the sun—the monarch's favorite emblem—was represented by a dazzling blaze of costly gems. Another court of this most sumptuous dwelling was paved with slabs of jasper, agate and other rare stones.

MORAL RISKS

AN INSURANCE company is reported to have recently refused to write a policy for half a million dollars, not because the man seeking the protection was physically unfit but because he was known to be a bad moral risk. Financially he was abundantly able to pay the premiums on the insurance policy, but his character could not buy it.

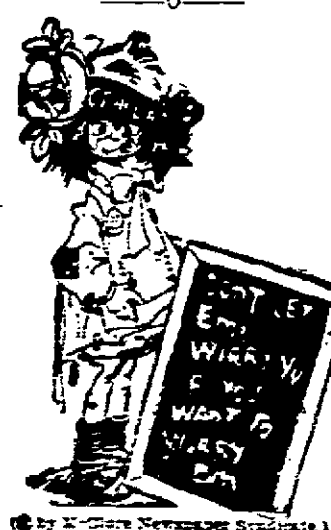

On the public square in a Southern city there is a sign over the entrance to a building and loan company which reads, "Character Loans." Doubtless the officials of that institution have discovered that the very best collateral for a loan is not chattels but character. J. Pierpont Morgan is quoted as having said: "We consider character a better risk than financial collateral."

The majority of economic failures are due not to financial disturbances but to moral defects. A characterless man commands no credit. The entire business world is built on trust. Remove trust and we have bankruptcy.

A store in a large city commands an unusually large patronage, not because prices are lower than elsewhere but for the reason that the concern has established a reputation for fair dealing. The purchaser knows that the article he buys is actually what it is reported to be.

We do not hesitate at the venture made upon a good moral risk. Morals are the sine qua non in the economic and social world. Morals are the very soul of a successful business career. Every ultimate victory in life is dependent upon moral values.

Flapper a Better Housekeeper Than Grandma--Says Mrs. Heath

THE modern young woman of today, according to Mrs. Julian Heath, flapper, makes a better housekeeper than her grandmother.

"The greater freedom of the modern girl is not enjoyed at the expense of home affairs," says Mrs. Heath. "But the many labor saving devices on the home have enabled her to do more work and better work in a fraction of the time her grandmother spent upon the household. Then, too, the newspapers, the radio and the magazines are full of information on cooking, cleaning and all home management. The modern girl with little effort gains a superior knowledge of some management which was not available in any form for her grandmother. Notwithstanding the praise of grandmother's pies and cakes, roasts and muffs, the modern girl feeds her family far more wisely and with better food, better prepared. The result is a healthier and happier family; stronger children, and their improved standing in school and in sports."

Mrs. Julian Heath

"A housecleaning the modern girl has a distinct advantage over her grandmother. Take, for example, the question of an inexpensive, general cleaner. Grandmother usually made her own cleaner for sinks, drains, bowls, the cellar, etc., by burning birch or other wood and using the ash. The girl of today uses lye which she gets in a can, simply diluting it with water according to the particular work to be done. She thus cleanses and disinfects at the same time, and she has learned the hygienic value of using lye in all containers for waste material. By the use of lye she cooperates with health authorities in preventing epidemics and in maintaining a consistently sanitary condition in the home."

"As a result of her greater freedom from household duties the mother of today is able to devote far more time to the training of her children, and in this she is assisted, as in her household work, by the wide range of educational material on child training which is today available for every mother."

"Another result of greater freedom from the drudgery of former days is that a girl's interest in life and in self-improvement is not likely to cease with her marriage. The modern girl has time to keep better informed on world events, politics, literature and history than was her grandmother. She, too, is idealistic and religious notwithstanding the criticisms of her detractors."

"Everything considered, there is no reason to be otherwise than hopeful for the flapper's future. I believe in the girl of today!"

Business Girls' First Supper

Janet Gayner

The first of the weekly suppers of the Business Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. was held on Wednesday evening about forty-five girls being present. Miss Mildred Messinger, president, gave the girls and all others present a cordial welcome to the supper and to the activities of the Business Girls' Club.

Miss Eva Rand, the secretary, told of the club's activities since the picnic at Glenmere Falls in June, including the supper in honor of Mrs. Staples and the Open House at the Y. W. in September.

The report of the treasurer, Miss Eva Shook, showed a balance in the treasury of over $24.

Miss Ruth Bell, chairman of the membership committee, reported a membership last year of fifty-one girls, but emphatically stressed the fact that this year the club had set a goal of at least 101 girls as members, which would mean that every girl in the club now would have to interest herself in getting at least one new member.

The program for next week promises to be unusually interesting. The girls who attended Camp Maqua will put on a twenty-five minute program, "The Holland Dutch Attend Camp Maqua." In addition, Miss Ellen Van Slyke, who has traveled extensively during the past two years, will give a valuable and interesting talk on "India," at 7:30 o'clock. This will give the Business Girls a wonderful opportunity to gain first hand, some knowledge of this much discussed country. Miss Van Slyke will also give talks on October 17 and 21.

Following Wednesday evening's business meeting some twenty-five girls remained and told of various summer trips to Washington, Jacksonville, Baltimore, etc., and plans were talked over for summer trips in 1929.

Before the evening's program closed, Miss Messenger announced the committees for 1928-29 and also the Business Girls' Club program for October and November as follows:

Officers of the Business Girls' Club: President, Mildred Messinger; vice president, Ruth Bell; treasurer, Eva Shook; secretary, Eva Rand.

Membership—Ruth Bell, chairman; Helen Gronemeyer, Mary Howard, Ella Jones, Stella McCaffrey, Isabel Russell, Miss Charlotte McClary.

Budget and Finance—Jessie Goodsell, chairman; Eva Shook, Alma Tyler, Irene Lampman.

READ THE DICTIONARY

THE advice to read the dictionary is serious.

I admit it is not just the book to while away time that must be spent on a sick bed.

It is not the kind of literature which gets you out of yourself when you are low spirited, and helps you to forget your troubles.

Nor is it the sort of mental tonic you need after a hard day's work at the office.

But it is a very excellent book to read, nevertheless—and by "read" I do not mean to glance at it to find the definition of a word, but to follow page after page, for as much as half an hour at a time.

If you will do that every few days you will begin to find it interesting and make a habit of it.

I began dictionary reading by accident.

I was looking up the meaning of a word which I had encountered in another volume, and the definition of the next word caught my eye.

I discovered that this word was also a stranger to me.

I ran my eye along the page, and learned that I was in company about which I knew very little.

So I kept on, and read six or seven pages, and found all of them worth while.

I knew, of course, that I would not acquire a vocabulary in any such fashion as that, but it did help me to think about the meanings of words, and to discover several which I thought I understood but which I had not understood at all.

These stuck in my mind, and some few of the others did.

We use words as we hear them usually. Our vocabularies are mostly formed by those about us, to whom we listen.

Unless we "have to be shown," which means that we have naturally inquiring minds, we take the connection in which the words are used for granted.

And glancing through the dictionary discloses an astonishing number of mistakes which we have made through life.

Exact use of words is very important.

We must think exactly to think well, and as we have to think in words we ought to acquire the best possible equipment to think with.

Pick up a good dictionary, and open it anywhere.

Run your eye down the page. Note meanings, and derivations.

Notice the use that is made of the words by authors who are quoted.

That in itself is interesting, and you will be delighted every time you discover a quotation you know, as a child is delighted by seeing a familiar face in a crowd.

Keep a good dictionary by your desk.

Use it to look up the strange words you meet with—and while thus using it, read on down or up the page, and examine into twenty or fifty or a hundred other words.

You will be surprised, not only at the mistakes you have been making, but at the improvement you will make in your own speech.

$1,100 Verdict for Diamond D Lines

A verdict of $1,100 was awarded the Diamond "D" Bus Lines, Inc., of Hartford, against Harry Burroughs and another in Supreme Court Wednesday afternoon in an action brought to recover $1,500 for damages to a bus operating between Kingston and Highland on July 4 last when plaintiff claimed a car of defendant ran into the bus, damaging it. The defendant defended the action claiming that it was the fault of the bus driver and sought by counter claim to recover damages to his Graham-Paige car.

At the opening of the case A. W. East, who appeared for plaintiff, amended his complaint to increase the damages sought from $1,000 to $1,500 and the defendant increased his counter claim $500.

John F. Wadlin, who appeared for the defendant, moved to set aside the verdict on the grounds that it was excessive, against the weight of the evidence and the law and asked the judge to reserve decision on his motion until briefs could be submitted on the question of the increased amount demanded in the amended complaint. Judge Smith declined and denied the motion. A stay of 10 days was granted and an additional 60 days if an appeal is taken.

No cases were ready for trial in the afternoon and court recessed until 10 o'clock this morning when a day calendar was made up. Jurors were excused until 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

ORCHARD CLEANINGS*PRUNE AND SPRAY FOR GOOD FRUIT

A $400 return on a $40 investment was H. J. Miller's experience in the proper handling of his home orchard last season, on a Howard county (Mo.) farm. Spraying and pruning turned the trick.

It cost Mr. Miller $16.70 for lime-sulphur and arsenic of lead, and $24 for spraying and pruning. The result was 300 bushels of marketable apples at $2 a bushel. There were also some other apples of a lower grade.

Mr. Miller had become disgusted with his mature orchard when it failed in previous years to produce a bushel of marketable fruit. So last year he was perfectly willing to cooperate with the county agent, Dan E. Miller, in a demonstration to show the value of pruning and spraying, writes R. R. Thompson of Missouri, in the Farm Life. Three trees were left as a check and received no treatment. These three failed to provide enough fruit to justify their existence.

An unfavorable season reduced the yield on all the trees. Even so the demonstration was a success in the eyes of both the owner and his neighbors. "There would have been no apples at all if I had not sprayed," Mr. Miller said. A peck of apples to the tree was sufficient to pay for the treatment.

The neglected home orchard, such as Mr. Miller's, is not only unprofitable, but it takes up valuable space that might be utilized by other crops. Unless the trees are to be taken care of, an ax and a grubbing hoe is the best remedy. But Mr. Miller's solution is still better. He will have a fair-sized deposit at the bank this fall, when it is most needed, and will have plenty of apples for his own use.

Young Apple Trees Are Rather Hard to Train

Young apple trees are more difficult to train than are young peach trees. Not all the limbs needed for the framework of the tree can be secured the first year. A central leader must be left until the proper number of framework limbs can be secured spaced over four to six feet of height. Seven or eight limbs is all that an apple tree should have. A tree with this number will be easy to keep pruned and it will be a simple matter to have plenty of bearing wood with little effort.

On certain varieties such as Yellow Transparent it will be very helpful in securing a well shaped tree and a tree that begins bearing at an early age if the framework limbs are spread. This spreading can be most easily accomplished by cutting notches in the ends of lath sawed into various lengths and then inserting these laths between two framework limbs in such a way that both limbs will be spread out. This changes the natural growth habit of the Yellow Transparent completely. Without some such artificial regulation the limbs of the trees of this variety go straight up in the air. The trees of this type are all very slow coming into bearing unless something of this nature is done to them.

Anthracnose Is Common Ill of Black Raspberry

One of the common diseases of the black raspberry is anthracnose, a fungus trouble causing purple blotches on the young canes, also attacking the fruiting spurs. It can be controlled by spraying with lime-sulphur, diluting same two and one-half gallons to fifty gallons of water. Spray again when the young shoots are six to eight inches high, diluting the lime-sulphur solution one gallon to fifty gallons of water. Apply a third spray just before blossoming time using the same solution of lime-sulphur as in the second spray.

Horticultural Hints

If sufficient spray has been applied to wet the tree evenly to the dripping point any more applied is wasted and may even do harm.

The pear and apple bilater mite can be controlled by applying lime-sulphur 12 to 100 any time in the spring before the buds open, according to station authorities.

The apple curculio cuts a small round hole in the surface and then eats out a large round cavity deeper in the fruit in which it places its egg. It will breed normally in the small apples.

Latham, Cuthbert and Herbert are all good red raspberries, and Cumberland and Gregg standard black caps.

Remove the dead wood and ill-shaped branches from shade and fruit trees. Raspberries and blackberries may be pruned just as soon as they show signs of growth.

Many growers fail to have the success they should have with their newly grafted trees because they do not give the trees the necessary care after the grafts begin to grow.

Ain't It Funny?

Just Junkies says its funny how a bunch of men in a penny ante game talk more about high finance than the big boys who regard a million dollars as merely the price of a white chip.

Raskob Changes Opinion on Stocks

New York, Oct. 4 (AP)—John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman and prominent stock market operator, in denying any activity in the present "bull market," declared today that security prices have so far outrun their demonstrative values that a "material readjustment is necessary" before they will again be attractive for investment.

This opinion of the former chairman of the finance committee of General Motors Corporation is in sharp contrast to optimistic views he has held for some time previously.

"Newspaper statements and gossip which have accredited recent spectacular advances in certain securities to my activity in the stock market," he said, "are entirely without foundation for two very good reasons."

"In the first place, since I have taken this position as Democratic national chairman I have not been near my office and have not purchased any stock whatever."

"In the second place, it is my opinion that security prices have so far outrun demonstrated values, earning power and dividend returns that a material readjustment is necessary before they will again be attractive to the prudent investor. The course of the bond market is a good indication of where the investor stands in relation to present security prices. Dividend returns are low and money rates are high."

A mass meeting and rally will be held this evening in Pythian Hall, Broadway and Thomas street, under the auspices of the Republican Club. Every one interested in the success of the Republican party this fall is invited to attend. There will be several speakers and a fine program.

Weekly Dances at B. W. S. Hall.

These dances will continue every Saturday night during the winter months and a large crowd is expected for the opening dance. ALL FIGURED OUT!

With all of the returns in and out on a tense and hectic season of three clubs at many stages of the various leagues through with the mad race, Old Joe Fan can look in all of the leagues. A gnat's nightie could have blanketed the first two both major and minor league races.

New York, Oct. 4 (AP).—Many a season will have come and gone before American baseball fans forget the one-point advantage over Buffalo. A week before the finish, Rochester, Buffalo and Toronto were grouped at the top, with one-half game covering the differences in the standings of the three.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

1923 edition of the national pastime.

There were torrid battles for the championship about everything from three-games-a-week circuits up to the major loops where the championships were in the balance right to the final week.

At least two minor leagues finished in a tie and the contest for the National League flag was so close one week from the finish that arrangements were made for a playoff in case of a tie.

The Pacific Coast League season included with San Francisco and Sacramento deadlocked at the top in the standing. And five days before the season ended, three clubs—San Francisco, Sacramento and Hollywood—were tied for the lead.

In the American Association, and other Class AA League, Indianapolis and Minneapolis battled during the closing two weeks with first one and then the other out in front.

The major league season was climaxed by a National League race that stood out as the circuit's warmest contest in 20 years. And Philadelphia's game with the American League championship provided the junior loop with a fascinating flag fight.

Perhaps it all was good conditioning for Old Joe Fan for the big world series and a Hot Stove season that promises to be bristling of big shake-ups and trades in which managers, as well as players, will be shunned ruthlessly.

Legionnaires Off for Texas

The Fifteenth and Sixteenth Corps of the American Legion started on their way to San Antonio, Texas, late this afternoon. It was planned to send the boys away with a big parade, which was slated to form at 2 o'clock at Crown and North Front streets and passing through the principal streets on the way to the Richmond ferry. It was an ideal day and if the weather continues as pleasant there is no question but that the boys will have a most enjoyable trip.

The parade formation was slated to be headed by a patrol from the Kingston police department, followed by the colors of the American Legion and the drum corps in full uniform together with the other Legionnaires who are making the trip to the convention.

The boys left Kingston on the 6:25 ferry for Richmond, where the train was scheduled to leave at 8 o'clock.

All along the line of march the American flag was displayed in honor of the boys.

ROBINSON AGAIN

TALKS ON PROHIBITION

Robinson Special Car Enroute to Chickasha, Okla., Oct. 4 (P).—Campaigning here in Oklahoma, Senator Joe Robinson, Democratic vice presidential nominee, has declared that if anybody believes the Republican party has reformed on the question of prohibition, that person should head immediately for the lunatic asylum.

The senator moved on today to Chickasha for his concluding speech in the state.

At Muskogee last night he said that the Republicans had used the word "observe" in the prohibition plank of their platform to make good women and ministers believe the Republican party is ready to abandon the drink habit.

In referring to the committee which drafted the plank, he declared that half of them probably were half intoxicated when they wrote it, and urged his audience to go home and read the Democratic and Republican platforms, and see if they could ascertain any material difference on the prohibition question.

He said both platforms declared for enforcement of the prohibition laws, that he and Senator Curtis, the Republican vice presidential nominee, were dry and that Governor Smith, the Democratic standard bearer, had stated his position. He argued, however, that Herbert Hoover had failed to make his position clear.

CURTIS TURN TOWARD

RACING FOR RECREATION

Chicago, Oct. 4 (P).—Finally raving a day from the grind of politics, Senator Charles Curtis, the Republican vice presidential nominee, answered the call of his favorite sport today and turned toward the horse race tracks at Lincoln Fields. Love of horses sent Charles Curtis to the tracks in the west as a bare back rider at the age of eight, and for eight years he earned his schooling in summer time as a jockey on the frontier tracks. He felt today he had earned a visit to the tracks by his heavy campaigning of the last month, winding up with an address here last night before a meeting in the auditorium under the auspices of the Swedish American Hoover-Curtis Club.

Despite a hoarse voice, the vice presidential nominee spoke at some length, praising the Republican administration of Calvin Coolidge and calling for the election of Herbert Hoover "as the means of continuing this splendid administration." He declared that to be the "principal question."

The audience gave the senator a demonstration when he declared that "we Republicans want our meetings opened with the music of 'The Star Spangled Banner' and not with 'The Sidewalks of New York'."

PARKED CAR NOT ALL PAID FOR; OTHER POLICE CASES

The Studebaker roadster which was seized by the police on Wednesday after it was found parked in the center of Main street, was claimed that afternoon by Gerald P. Gray of Brooklyn. As the license number on the car was issued in Orange county the police got in touch with Newburgh and learned that the Sloan Motor Company, Inc., still lacked the sum of $196.95 on the car. Later in the day a representative of that concern called for the car and it was turned over to him by the police. Gray was arrested on a parking charge and furnished bail in the sum of $5 for his appearance in court today. He failed to appear and the bail was forfeited.

Walter Smith of this city, arrested for parking in the restricted area on John street, was fined $5 and payment of the fine suspended.

William Hanley, 49, of New York city, arrested at the West Shore railroad station on a charge of public intoxication Wednesday evening, was given a suspended sentence on his promise to leave town.

Medical Liberty League.

The convention will be held in Detroit, November 11-12. The League opposes any and all compulsory medical treatment on the order of any official or employee of any division of the government.

Legion Auxiliary Meeting.

A county meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held in New Paltz, Friday night at 8 o'clock. All members of this vicinity who wish to attend the meeting may go to New Paltz in cars which will leave the Memorial Building, West O'Reilly street, at 7 o'clock.

Good Prices for Forsyth Antiques

Right on the hour of 12:30 a. m. this morning, Auctioneer Simon began the auction sale of articles from the late Bruno-Forsyth residence, on the grounds of the property on Pearl street, and there was a crowd of interested buyers present when the first articles were put up for sale.

From the first there was spirited bidding, though the articles put up for sale were small and many of them, according to Mr. Simon, "are is."

Excellent prices were offered for what was sold and in spite of prohibition, the most popular articles put under the hammer were decanters of various sorts and wine glasses.

One set of children's pewter dishes brought the neat sum of $5 and a small Wedgwood syrup cup brought $5.

The finer pieces of bric-a-brac, etc., were on sale during the afternoon.

The auction will continue all day tomorrow.

ALASKA FARM LIFE BEGINS NEW PHASE

Bachelor Owner and One-Crop System Passing.

Seattle, Wash.—Touring southeastern Alaska for an inspection of natural resources, Secretary of Agriculture Jardine will find farm life of the Far North in the midst of a colorful transition.

The "bachelor farmer," whose pioneer struggles are written into the agricultural history of every frontier, is slowly passing from the land he cleared of timber and is being replaced by men with families. Where his shack stood the new farmer is building houses and barns and his one-crop system of farming, is giving way to diversified activities, including the production of live stock.

Needing little and obtaining that principally from the forests, the early settler lived under conditions impossible for a man with a family. He planted his wheat or potatoes in the spring, left during the summer months to earn a "grubstake" and returned in the fall to harvest a crop that had received no attention.

More Dairy Farms.

Long-required diversified farming is coming in with the families. The small dairy farm grows more common and many vegetables are grown. In the region near Fairbanks the bachelor still predominates, and since the area is adapted to wheat and potatoes, it may take longer to introduce diversified systems.

Southeastern Alaska is rough, rugged and covered with timber. Comparatively little land in this region is available for cultivation. The rich farms are in the great Tanana valley, which, with the Yukon and Susitna valleys, has the essentials to make it eventually the granary of Alaska, in the fertile Matanuska valley and contiguous territory.

The secretary's plan to visit the southeastern section was motivated by his desire to see at close range the infant forest industry, other natural resources and the possibilities for preservation of wild life.

This newest Alaskan industry has none of the stampede characteristics of earlier enterprises. The gold rush brought rapid but short-lived growth in many places, but the paper-making industry is expected to be permanent. Scientifically developed, costly newspaper plants, with strict government supervision of natural resources, have been planned with a view to encouraging prosperous cities and towns.

Will Build Mills.

Water-power rights for construction of mills at Ketchikan, the secretary's first stop in Alaska, and at Juneau have been granted by the government, and two companies are making preliminary investigation for actual construction work.

The United States will be paid for the timber as it is cut, and cutting will be done in accordance with forestry principles. The southern coast is covered with thick forests, and 40 per cent of the timber is understood to be excellent for the manufacture of paper.

Church Leases Farm to Pay Off Its Debt

Rapid City, S. D.—A four-hundred-acre farm on the old Sioux reservation is expected to pay the debt of the Rapid City Episcopal church in four years. The Men's club of the church, which has 20 members, has advanced $500, rented a farm near Waste, a little town 40 miles east of Rapid City, bought the necessary farm equipment and planted 100 acres in flax and 100 acres in wheat. Next year the whole 400 acres will be farmed.

The farm is seven miles from Waste, pronounced "Washt," and meaning in the Sioux language "good," and is the center of a farming country that never has known a crop failure in the 20 years of its civilization. After the opening of the Indian reservation, the country between the Missouri river and the Black hills was a free cattle range until the building of the Chicago & North Western railway from Pierre to Rapid City in 1897 made it available to settlers.

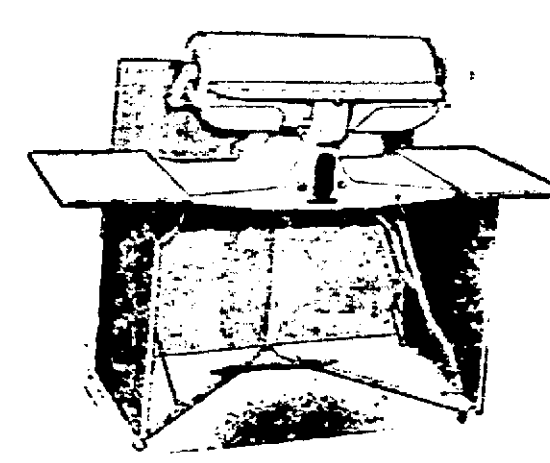

Some Real Estate Changes.

Robert Ortale has purchased the Max Wetterhahn home located on Abel street, and Samuel Romano has bought the house of William Radatz at 298 Hasbrouck avenue. Both deals were closed through the real estate agency of Alderman Samuel N. Mazz.

SHERIFF PLANS CLEAN-UP OF DUTCHESS ROAD HOUSES

Aroused by reports of flagrant law violations at road houses in Dutchess county, which have come to the attention of the authorities several times recently, the sheriff's office is planning a clean-up campaign. A representative of the sheriff's office recently said: "We have been getting numerous reports recently of drinking, carousing and general belligerence around the county in connection with road houses, and we are going to see that it is stopped. The sad feature about it is that most of the people are young girls and boys, hardly more than children. And then usually mixed up in some older man who ought to know better."

Cais-on Work "Slow."

According to reports of Blakeslee-Rollins, Inc., contractors, lowering the east caisson of the Poughkeepsie bridge the necessary 25 feet, the work of sinking the structure is "slow." Hard material has been encountered, which will necessitate blasting.

Fate of Celaeno's Crew In Doubt

New York, Oct. 4 (P).—The gale-lashed north Atlantic today held the fate of the Dutch freighter Celaeno, reported sinking with her crew of 35 men.

Speeding to her rescue was the Hamburg-American liner Albert Ballin but failure of the latter to establish communication with the line's office here left the status of the rescue effort in doubt.

With the fate of the Celaeno's crew still in doubt 27 other men, the crew of the steam trawler Filler, which yesterday sank off Montauk Point, Long Island, were landed safely at New London, Conn., early this morning. They had taken to lifeboats when their ship sprang a leak, were picked up by the Steamer American bound for Philadelphia, and later transferred to the Coast Guard Destroyer Perry which took them in to New London.

Butler Stores Birthday Sale

Thirty-Fifth Anniversary to Be Celebrated Saturday by Chain Store Corporation Which Has Popular Branch in Kingston.

H. H. Butler Stores, Inc., with headquarters at practically every leading city of the country, will hold a 35th Birthday Sale, beginning Saturday, to mark the great success accomplished by the chain.

H. H. Butler, who climbed from a humble beginning at Troy, N. Y., to that of one of the leading chain store magnates. Mr. Butler, a man who played a leading part in developing the installment plan of buying in this country, is president of The People's Store, that has a branch at 291 Wall street, this city.

The first Butler store was established at Troy in 1893. Mr. Butler, then a shirt salesman, saw the opportunity offered there owing to the fact that Troy was one of the leading cities of the world, and started a business of his own with a capital of $250. His small store room at 143 River street, owing to his hard work and increasing customer list, soon became too small to serve the public.

After five years in business he purchased a whole building, which was the inauguration of a successful chain store enterprise. He soon had branches in various cities of New York state and gradually crept out into other states.

Much of the success of the Butler Stores, Inc., is laid to the fact that the head saw the great advantages of a charge account system for his customers. Over a half million now are able to purchase conveniently at Butler stores, which is shown by records. Not alone did the stores thrive on the charge account and installment plan but customers readily accepted the method of purchasing.

The clothing end was first to receive a trial and when it proved profitable many other articles were sold on installment. Today almost anything used in daily life, automobiles, etc., can be purchased that way. Other industries were quick to grasp the plan of which Mr. Butler is a pioneer.

The Butler Stores, Inc., lay much credit to the installment plan of dealing with customers, because ordinary people of the work-a-day world are able to purchase needs more readily by that method than by waiting to save for a bulk payment.

FIGUE FAMILY PRINTS ITS OWN MONTHLY NEWSPAPER

Trenton, Tenn.—James the Figue family offering a newspaper published for and by the Figue family exclusively. It may be written for under the sun, the figures believe.

There are many figures, and it is always seen a problem for them to keep posted on one another's figures. For years they made various copies of each letter they wrote, making duplicates to other figures. But now they have branched out and a monthly eight-page newspaper carries to every member of the family all available news of all others.

Behind this newspaper business are eight Figue brothers, six of them newspaper men, publishers, editors and printers, who are widely scattered but imbued with a spirit of clanishness.

Besides the eight brothers and their father, Rev. R. H. Figue of Hazel Ky., are many figures and near-figures. Just how many is a moot question but forty-two of them gathered in Hazel for a 1928 reunion.

The brothers edit the paper, approximately known as "Figures Is Figures." They are M. H. Figue of New Orleans, W. W. of Pittsburgh, H. W. of St. Louis, M. M. and Dick, who lives in Nashville; Bob, who makes Memphis his home, and Paul W. and Syd W. who stay in Trenton and publish the paper.

The first issue told of Rev. Mr. Figue's farm, to which he eventually plans to retire; of little Virginia's recovery from an illness; of vacations clothes and automobiles of these figures and those.

Only the back page carries advertising, which is offered at the prohibitive rate of $1,000 an inch. The page is devoted to a circulation booster, which offers "Figures Is Figures" for 25 cents "a year on your doorstep, or in your ash can."

The real Figue touch comes in this sentence: "If the paper busts before the year is out you lose your unearned subscription money—but even life is a gamble—or gambol, which?"

Despised Class The alien government of Palestine, whether of Rome or its deputy princes, the Herods, collected its taxes and customs through speculators who bought up the right of collecting the revenue (publicum) for their own advantage. While these men were often natives, they were classed by the Jews not only with the social outcasts, but also with the heathen, as if outside of Israel altogether.

Missouri Longest River

The Mississippi river is 2453 miles long. The Missouri from its source to where it joins the Mississippi at St. Louis is 2045 miles long. The Missouri, however, regarded as a single river from its source in southwestern Montana to the Gulf of Mexico, is 4221 miles long. So considered it is the longest river in the world.

Easy to keep Clean!

When you buy an electric refrigerator the first essential, of course, is to get a refrigerator that will automatically keep your food constantly at a temperature below 50 degrees. Food is safe to eat only when so kept—and General Electric Refrigerators are guaranteed to provide this perfect safeguard against bacteria.

Burdens, too, is vitally important. And here again the General Electric Refrigerator is "years ahead" in design. Its mechanism never even needs oiling. It is all sealed, air-tight, in a steel casing and placed up on top forever out of the way of dirt and difficulties. Radiation from the coils creates a constant upward current of air that prevents dust from settling. The refrigerator stands on legs so you can easily clean underneath it.

In operation it is extremely quiet, highly economical. It plugs into your lighting system as simply as an electric iron.

Telephone for our descriptive booklet, then come in and let us tell you all about the different models... how the ice cubes are made and various new dairy frozen desserts.

Choose the model you prefer—you may buy on deferred payments if you wish.
